

Call for Submissions

Special Theme Issue: Economics Spring 2012

We are pleased to announce that Social Studies Research and Practice will have its first themed issue in Spring 2012. The theme is economics. Drs. Ron Banaszak and Mark Schug have agreed to serve as guest editors.

We are announcing this now to give scholars the opportunity to write for this issue. The issue will have manuscripts that fall in the following categories:

- Research
- Action Research
- Practice
- Notable Trade Books
- Features on Social Justice, Technology Integration, Interdisciplinary Education, and/or Ready-to-Teach

Submissions should include an abstract, brief biographies of the author(s), and a digital photograph of each author.

Dr. Judy Butler is serving as the Supervising Editor for this issue and questions should be referred to her at jbutler@westga.edu.